

Of Lessness, Betrayal, and Unwantedness

Sandra Eliswa
Poet

The rain pours down on you, soaking you
With its weight of lessness, betrayal and unwantedness

As the weight of the rain becomes your new choice of clothing, the heart's blister becomes restless with its tales.

And between the weight of the rain and the Heart's blister, you cease to be, and you are Washed off to the drain, along with the city's Filth of lessness, betrayal, and Unwantedness.
