

The Fire Girlⁱ

Dr. Ekta Sawhney
Assistant Professor
Alliance University

Do not let that fire go out girl, do not let misery set in,
For it is you who has come so far, from the hell you have been in.

You have cut across all mounts, all trials you have passed,
You have silenced people, for their limits they had crossed.

Your life is an instance of a love pious and pure,
And shows the intensity of hardships you can endure.

Do not let the fire go out girl, for there are whirlpools in which you would dive,
And you will evolve as a girl of fire, for fire is what keeps you alive.

ⁱ A woman is an amazing creation of God. Simple, naïve, feeble on one side; fierce, vivacious & aggressive on the other. The following poem is dedicated to the indomitable, unconquerable spirit of a woman.